

Unidentified House

Herrick Archives Number H 131

Map 190-04 shows a house located on High Street southeast of the "Law" Building which is now Page Hall (061). See sketch map.

No other map has been found showing a house at this location, no person has been located who recalls the house, and no reference to a house at this location has been found.

The general outline of the house as depicted on this map "is similar, though not identical with the outline of the Thomas House (H 112) when it stood north of Hagerty Hall (037). See map 189-02.

Map 190-04 was prepared in 1902, which is the year the Thomas house was moved to High Street south of West Seventeenth Avenue. A reasonable hypothesis is that the new location for H 112 was not known with certainty when map 190-04 was drawn, and that H 131 is the Thomas house shown at a proposed location on High Street which later was changed.

See Addendum No. 1

This hypothesis is supported by the fact that map 190-04 shows that the proposed location of Law and several other buildings was changed. In other words, the map was tentative, and H 112 is shown at a location other than the one finally chosen.

For indexing purposes, H 131 is listed at 1785 North High Street.

ADDENDUM NO. 1

Map 190-04 was prepared in 1900 rather than 1902. However, it appears that H 131 was added to the map at a later date, since the map shows no break in the High Street curb line for the driveway to H 131. In any event, the change in date of the map does not invalidate the hypothesis here stated.
